

STANFORD REPERTORY THEATER PRESENTS

Clytemnestra: Tangled Justice

A One Woman show with Courtney Walsh

This intense 40-minute performance featuring Michael Keck's dynamic score focuses on the dramatic figure of Clytemnestra in Aeschylus' Oresteia. The character dazzles us with her verbal power and theatrical daring, raising questions about political justice, gender parity, sexual jealousy, blood loyalty, and the compulsions of war.

Following the performance, a discussion with Walsh and translator/director Rush Rehm of Stanford University invites the audience to engage with this powerful character and the intractable issues she raises.

Thursday, March 17, 2016

8:00 PM

Trianon Theater, Napflion

Monday, March 21,
7:30 PM

Hellenic American College Auditorium

22 Massalias St.
10680 Athens

